PONDERING

Modesty is satisfied with its own charm and does not draw attention to itself.

The more we advance on the Path, the more modest we become and the more we see that we have done nothing in comparison to what remains to be done.

TRUTH IS ABOVE MIND

Intellectually, the Truth is the point where all the opposites meet and join to make a unity.

Practically, the Truth is the surrender of the ego, to make possible the birth and manifestation of the Divine.

Doubt is the best arm used by the ego to protect itself from extinction.

These are remarks on the way which may lead you a little further.

6 October 1965

Truth is above mind, it is in silence that one can enter into communication with it.

To pray to the Divine and to surrender oneself entirely and in all sincerity to Him are the essential preliminary conditions.

Control

Control over the lower impulses is the first step towards realisation. - The Mother

TRUTH AND OPINION

In the Ignorance mental opinions always oppose one another.

In the Truth they are complementary aspects of a higher knowledge.

In all opinions there is something true and something false.

It is indeed a great and useful thing to be able to listen to the opinions of others without losing one's temper.

SPEAK ALWAYS THE TRUTH

To speak always the truth is the highest title of nobility

page 80

If you do not wish to say something which is true, instead of lying just keep silent.

If we allow a falsehood, however small, to express itself through our mouth or our pen, how can we hope to become perfect messengers of Truth? A perfect servant of Truth should abstain even from the slightest inexactitude, exaggeration or deformation.

CONTROL OF SPEECH

Control over what one says is more important than complete silence. The best is to learn to say what is useful in the most exact and true way possible.

5 March 1933

If only people did remain a little quiet before speaking, acting or writing, much trouble could be avoided. So many things are said uselessly, they bring misunderstandings and bad feelings which could have been saved with silence.

If were spoken only the words that needed to be spoken, the world would be a very silent place.

FROM THE AUROVILLE COUNCIL

THE ISSUE, THE RELATIONSHIP, AND THE MORAL INJURY: AVC REQUEST TO AVFO AND FO-WGS

Conflict specialists distinguish between two dimensions of every conflict: the issue and the relationship.

The issue is what people disagree about. In Auroville, these include governance, participation, environmental destruction, road construction, planning, transparency, and the township's future. These are important questions that deserve open discussion.

The relationship concerns how people experience one another during the conflict. It is shaped by trust or mistrust, respect or dismissal, listening or silence. Over the past years, many relationships within the community have been deeply strained. For many, the pain of not being heard has become as significant as the decisions themselves.

When this breakdown continues, it can lead to moral injury: the lasting harm that occurs when actions violate a person's deepest values and sense of what is right. For many in Auroville, the injury has not come only from the visible changes to the landscape, but from witnessing principles such as dialogue, collective participation, respect, and care for the Earth being set aside.

Issues can be addressed through decisions. Moral injury cannot. It requires acknowledgement, accountability, genuine dialogue, and the rebuilding of trust.

Lasting peace depends not only on resolving what divides us, but also on healing what has been broken between us. Both deserve our attention. Both are essential to Auroville's future.

The first step towards healing is simple: stop causing further harm. Cease the actions that deepen division, restore space for genuine dialogue, and allow the community to begin rebuilding the trust on which Auroville was founded.

UNDERSTANDING THE DIMENSIONS OF THE AUROVILLE CRISIS: AVC INVITATION TO AVFO AND FO-WGS

The challenges Auroville has faced since 2021 are often discussed through specific events: the felling of trees, the construction of roads, changes in governance, legal disputes, restrictions on participation, and the growing divisions within the community. Yet these events are only the visible manifestations of a much deeper conflict.

Conflict-resolution theory identifies five dimensions through which complex conflicts can be understood. The situation in Auroville contains elements of all five.

A structural conflict exists when there is disagreement about systems, authority, and decision-making processes. Many residents have expressed concern over the increasing centralisation of power and the erosion of long-established participatory mechanisms. The question is not only what decisions are being made, but who is making them and through what process.

An instrumental conflict concerns the methods used to achieve shared goals. While many stakeholders agree that Auroville must continue to develop and evolve, there are profound disagreements regarding how this development should take place. Infrastructure projects, road construction, environmental interventions, and planning decisions have become flashpoints because people hold fundamentally different views on the means by which Auroville’s future should be built.

An interest conflict emerges when groups compete over resources, influence, access, or control. Questions surrounding land, finances, information, governance, and the ability to shape Auroville’s future have created tensions between different actors. These conflicts are intensified when people feel excluded from decisions that directly affect their lives and work.

A value conflict touches the deepest layer of the crisis. For many, the present situation is not simply about roads, trees, or administrative procedures. It is about the meaning of Auroville itself. Different interpretations of stewardship, participation, human unity, environmental responsibility, and fidelity to the founding vision have led to profound disagreements about what Auroville should become.

Finally, personal conflict has also developed over years of unresolved tensions. Relationships have been strained. Trust has been damaged. Communication has deteriorated. Disagreements that began over policies and procedures have become intertwined with feelings of hurt, frustration, fear, and betrayal.

Recognising these different dimensions does not solve the conflict. It does, however, help us understand its complexity. The crisis in Auroville is not a single disagreement that can be resolved through a single action. It is a multi-layered conflict involving structures, methods, interests, values, and relationships. Any lasting resolution will need to address all of these dimensions with honesty, openness, and a genuine willingness to listen to one another.

Auroville was conceived not as a place where one side prevails over another, but as a place where humanity learns to transcend conflict itself. That aspiration remains possible only if the causes of conflict are no longer reinforced, and if every effort is directed towards rebuilding trust, restoring participation, and rediscovering the spirit of human unity that gave birth to this experiment.

Warmly,
The Auroville Council

OBITUARY

DR. ERVIN LASZLO (1932-2026), EX-IAC MEMBER, RECENTLY PASSED AWAY

Dr. Ervin Laszlo served as an active member of Auroville's second International Advisory Council, from 1993 to 1997.

He was a Hungarian-American philosopher of science, systems theorist, and classical pianist. He was the Director of the Laszlo Institute of New Paradigm Research and founder of the think-tank Club of Budapest.

A child prodigy who performed with the Budapest Symphony Orchestra at nine, he traded the concert hall for a lifelong inquiry into the deepest questions of existence: How is the cosmos connected? What is consciousness? And how do we live as if we truly belong to one another and to the whole of life?

Through the Club of Budapest, which he founded to awaken planetary consciousness, and through his work on the Akasha Paradigm, Ervin insisted that we are not separate fragments in an indifferent universe, but threads in a single living fabric of information, energy, and awareness.

He wrote nearly a hundred books, advised the United Nations, and was twice nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize, yet he carried his brilliance with humility and warmth.

During his time on the IAC, a body established under the Auroville Foundation Act to provide advice and long-term support for the township's development, Laszlo championed Auroville as a practical "living laboratory" where transpersonal ideals and enlightened, sustainable living could be pioneered for the rest of the world. He frequently wrote messages of support highlighting the township as an alternative to mainstream society's destructive trends.

Dr Ervin Laszlo's message for Auroville on Auroville's 28th Anniversary, 28th February, 1996:

"Auroville, a unique experiment in international and intercultural coexistence, is one of the most hopeful indications of the practical realization of the human potential the entire world community will soon require to ensure a truly sustainable and humane future. Auroville deserves worldwide recognition as a pioneer of planetary cooperation, harmony, and understanding."

ENDEARING DISSENT OF PETER ANDERSCHITZ

A TRIBUTE TO A FELLOW TRAVELLER

Memories have a strange way of escaping when you try to gather only the best of it; while it flows in abundance other day, some of it you may want to hold on to; some of those moments of regrets you want to forget while some so enriching and enviable that you want to live it all over again; Making it a collection of lifetime of such beautiful moments one has spent with some gem! I have many of this with our friend Peter Anderschitz, who recently bid goodbye to his physical self!

Peter and myself share our birthday week as aquarians, often being the first to wish each other or celebrating it together over a meal! This apart, we have lived as neighbours for around a decade, in early years at Petite Ferme; sharing our community kitchen, all neighbourhood issues, development perspectives with agreements and disagreements; our likes and dislikes over our own origins and cultures! Stories from our university days; To our once radical pasts of design dissent! To our own stories of betrayals & also therapy community sessions of family constellations. We lived through a rainbow of emotions in our years as friends & neighbours!

I have personally always admired Peter's perspective over the development issues; though at times too dreamy but one of the few of his times in 70s and 80s of Auroville who actually understood the community perspective, Auroville's contextual existence and its disconnect with the culture of the land! He tried to bridge this gap by his ideas and participation over earlier projects in the periphery of the green belt that actually got some of the first attention to Auroville Architecture, for the use of alternative technologies in architecture; the aesthetic of Indian sustainability and an urban design which actually has lived through the challenges of Auroville's disagreements over planning, urban design and architectural perspectives! Early Samasti houses remain one of the few ones built with adobe and earth plasters, simple sloping roofs that were planned as a community and have lived throughout decades in Auroville! These houses garnered one of the first attention to its rooted architectural possibilities of Auroville beyond the dramatic forms of 70s buildings by the promoters of Galaxy vision or the expansive architectural style of his other contemporaries! His humble and unfortunately often ignored, disregarded views on planning, development and aesthetics in architecture found itself sidelined against the crop of visionary others who flaunted universality of Auroville as a spring board to their own ambitious plans! Peter's views on Auroville's planning or urban design or his concerns were not as acknowledged even as he continued his relentless efforts through last decades and still remained hopeful of a positive community processes! Latest being his closely participatory involvement in the dreamcatchers sessions!

My sharing with Peter on a personal level continued throughout our close friendship and mutual respect; though we often argued over our own approaches to realising vision of Auroville! My last few meetings in the parking outside Swayam were equally charged with love & respect, where we met recently and planned to meet over a chai or meal at Dustudio! We hugged and chatted however without realising this moment was one of my last times I would see him in physical!

My memories now are overflowing with all those precious dialogues and discussions; times of crisis in petite ferme; our little arguments over fences & pathways in Auromodele to some amazing moments making friends he was often visited or hosted to our own family visiting; several community meetings and some gossips while we survived our own existence in Auroville! His charming personality often attracted several young men and women who were looking to explore Auroville through Peter's own perspective! He mentored entry to Auroville for so many Aurovilians, he hosted them with love and care, almost adopting at times; His charming personality often remained unchanged over last decades though his frail physical & health complications, often did not cooperate! Throughout those years, his adventurous nature from early pioneering years of Auroville and his experiments in architecture kept him ever youthful energetic Peter we knew!

His presence to many of us will remain eternal! His dissent from his architectural thesis times at university till his almost unflinching faith in Auroville's existence and importance for the future of humanity remains realistic! His beautiful creations of early architecture pieces of marvels which were overshadowed or overlooked by many or not getting credited never concerned him! His works remain some of the few which actually understood Indian architecture through its context, climate, technologies and aesthetics! His sense of proportion made him one of the few I admire in the last decades of Auroville who did not get his due but never looked back or complained! He just worked, travelled, as always, a constant nomad who lived life his own terms, his own ways. Simple. Humble. Fulfilled. So endearing even in his dissent!

As he moves on to yet another journey to universal creative spirit, we bid Adieu to one of our dear co traveller who never quit! Who will carry his endearing dissent with love and faith! He will be endearing the apsaras of the heavens with his charming nature, abstract descriptions of Auroville's future and a world that will be of his vision! Definitely a new one that would be more equitable, more respectful to disagreements and more beautiful than the one we exist around today's Auroville!

Adios Peter! Your energy and spirit will be dearly missed!

ISSUE 11
JULY 2026

Dear community,

We are sharing with you the 11th issue of Voices of Auroville magazine. All links have been repaired

The past four months have brought further forcible expulsions, violent confrontations at the Youth Centre and the Town Hall, and court rulings that have narrowed residents' legal standing. They have also brought new acts of solidarity, wider national attention, and voices from within and without the community speaking with clarity and conviction. It is all documented here, as always with fact-based reporting.

Since the closure of Auroville Today in late 2025, the need to give space to community voices has only grown. This issue features three exclusive interviews and one personal reflection.

We invite you to read the newsletter, the magazine, and to share both freely.

FOR YOUNG PEOPLE LIVING AND WORKING IN AUROVILLE

To interns, young volunteers and professionals in Auroville,
And curious youth of Auroville, this is for you

Many of you have likely arrived through a particular project, internship, apprenticeship, volunteer programme, or field of work; or as youth of Auroville, are involved today in one or two particular areas of work. Yet Auroville itself is much larger than any single unit, profession, or area of activity.

Alongside your work placement, SAIER would like to invite you into a complementary learning journey shared with other young people currently living and working in Auroville.

We propose to explore the deeper context from which Auroville emerges.

This will include:

- Weekly or bi-weekly Exploration of the context and raison d'être of Auroville, Sri Aurobindo's and The Mother's works, and the ancient Indian quest for meaning and purpose of life.
- Consolidated information on and strong encouragement of a regular physical education practice during their stay in Auroville.
- A weekly moment for reflection, dialogue, and self-assessment among interns from different units and fields of study.

The intention is to create a space within your work schedule, in which these questions can be explored and the practical work of daily life can be placed within a wider scope.

An email has been sent to units of Auroville to invite them to explore this possibility. And ensure that if you are interested you will be supported in this exploration.

If this resonates with you, we invite you to fill out this short form.

We have already had a first meeting this week and the exploratory sessions are beginning.

We look forward to meeting you.

AUROVILLE: THE AVATAR'S CIRCLE AND THE IDEAL SOCIETY

When dharma is lost and humanity takes the wrong path, the Divine incarnates into a human body. However, Sri Aurobindo writes, "Avatarhood for the sake of the Dharma would be an otiose phenomenon"; the "rising of man into the Godhead"[1] is the Avatar's ultimate mission, leading to a new evolutionary principle. This is the kernel of the Integral Supramental Yoga, whose ultimate stage is abolition of the very organs. As always, the lever is the psychic being, the divine spark in the human vessel. The Scriptures' caitya purusa.

Not some ordinary guru leading to salvation a few selected souls, but the entire society: this is the Avatar's opus magnum. To ignore, and be kept ignorant of this principle cardinal to grasp Mother's ideal society – henceforth joining here unprepared for the supreme task – is the major cause of Auroville having drifted away from the lifestyle cum consequent policies the Mother set; not as outward rules, not as mental discipline and enforced ideology (as attempted so far, hence the failure of all revolutions), but as modes of consciousness arising from within, effortlessly determining a totally different set of values and goals; as typical of the spiritualised consciousness that ought to be Auroville’s spontaneous way of being.

Sri Aurobindo wrote that the Avatar cannot fulfil his mission alone; he takes birth with those needed to accomplish his mission, as well as with those who try to destroy it. He wrote about a ‘circle’ to which the Avatar’s people belong; even if they fail and quit his Ashram, the bond remains. Taking birth life after life with their own people, Mother used to say “We all have met in previous lives”. But she also told Satprem about a Titan taking birth every time along with her, to destroy her body and her mission.

Tremendous occult forces loom over the Ashram and Auroville, the incubator of the ideal society, which is to be hampered at any cost since immemorial times; not necessarily by external agents, but rather from interior dissolving ones. In 1960 Mother’s heart stopped, for one month her physical survival was a struggle: the ‘false Sri Aurobindo’ had infiltrated, taking the shape of a well-known disciple acting on others.

Integral Yoga is a high-risk affair, not to be commenced unless solidly established on the psychic being. To do sadhana in a collective is much more difficult than doing it individually; no one is an island, we influence those around us and we are influenced; at the least insincerity we may succumb to forces of destruction, preying on them and being preyed. The regeneration of our entire human nature is at the stake; even when, after a persistent struggle, the obstacle seems vanquished, often we have to start seemingly all over, because along with our own we carry the impossibilities of all others. This explains both, the Ashram and Auroville.

The Avatar, who carried in himself all impossibilities and surmounted all, teaches and guides by example the regeneration of human nature not just in individuals, but in a micro-society containing in nuce the future humanity. Such is the Avatar’s mission. To halt it, and destroy it, is the Titan’s.

Surrender to the divine incarnation is the fastest and securest way, as in the well-known Indian parable of the mother-cat versus the mother-monkey.

1. Visionary Framework: The Call of Universal Oneness

ॐ सह नावतु। सह नौ भुनक्तु। सह वीर्यंकरवावहै।

ॐ शान्तिः शान्तिः शान्तिः ॥

"May we be protected together. May we be nourished together. May we work together with great energy. May our study be vigorous and effective. May we never foster animosity among ourselves. Om Peace, Peace, Peace." — Taittiriya Upanishad

This timeless Vedic invocation of collective aspiration, mutual respect, and shared progress serves as the foundational light for the development of the Auroville Universal Township. It directly mirrors the evolutionary truth sung by Sri Aurobindo in his epic poem, Savitri:

"Heart feels for heart, limb cries for answering limb; All strives to enforce the unity all is."

Auroville was conceived not as a static historical settlement, but as a dynamic focal point where humanity could learn to live from the soul rather than the ego. To build a township that physically manifests this consciousness, the original, highly visionary Galaxy Plan must be transitioned from a conceptual sketch into a grounded, living reality. In its early formulation, the layout lacked the concrete socio-economic and modern infrastructure mechanisms necessary for an urban centre. As one of the world's oldest, most enduring intentional communities, Auroville represents a living laboratory for human evolution and environmental stewardship. From its inception in 1968, when youth from 124 nations poured soil into a lotus-shaped urn, the township has evolved into a uniquely diverse collective of over 3,000 residents from more than 50 countries. This grand experiment has succeeded not in isolation, but through the consistent, active support of the Government of India, which has uniquely recognised its potential to model the future of human habitation. Historically, Auroville holds an unmatched institutional legacy in turning barren, severely eroded wasteland into a thriving, self-sustaining tropical ecosystem. This history of eco-restoration provides an active template for addressing today's global climate crisis. By pioneering decentralised water harvesting, indigenous afforestation, and zero-waste networks, the township demonstrates how dense urban populations can coexist regeneratively with nature.

AUROVILLE FOUNDATION

AUROVILLE ECONOMIC ECOSYSTEM

JULY 2026

MASTER POLICY REPORT ON STRUCTURAL REFORMS FOR THE AUROVILLE ECONOMIC ECOSYSTEM

EXCERPT

To,

The Governing Board &

Funds & Assets Management Committees of the Auroville Foundation: FAMC: Comprehensive Economic Reforms, Institutional Credit Mobilisation, Asset Tenancy Systems, and Livelihood Standardisation

1. Introductory Preamble: The Metaphysics of Material Organisation

The fiscal and administrative optimisation of the Auroville Universal Township cannot be divorced from its core evolutionary trajectory. As Sri Aurobindo delineates in The Life Divine, true spiritual realisation does not reject the material matrix, but rather insists upon its radical transfiguration:

"The spiritual life findeth not its full sense in a lonely wilderness or a secluded cell, but in a life lived in the world, a life of action, a life of relation, a life of expression, which is yet lived from within outward."

To treat the economic administration of the township as a purely utilitarian, secular mechanism is to misunderstand the integration required for an intentional township. Economics, in this paradigm, is the outer orchestration of a deeper, harmonious collaborative force. It is the conscious alignment of material resources to support human progress. On the execution of work and the cultivation of an efficient, professional, yet inner-driven collective capacity, Sri Aurobindo's writings on action and organisation provide a foundational principle:

"To do work in a close, corporate harmony, without friction, without egoistic self-assertion, with a single mind dedicated to the common object, is the first necessity of a successful collective endeavour."

Sri Aurobindo's sociological exposition in The Human Cycle cautions against the rigid, mechanised systems that stifle organic community growth:

"A society that is secure, stable and comfortable, but static, uniform and unprogressive, is a prison, not a true field for the soul's development."

The foundational mandate of the township is anchored within the Charter of Auroville (1968), which explicitly establishes that

"Auroville will be a site of material and spiritual researches for a living embodiment of an actual Human Unity."

It further commands that

"Auroville will be the place of an unending education, of constant progress, and a youth that never ages."

This dynamic evolution requires the township to continually learn from and integrate the best operational, financial, and organisational practices of India and the world, serving as a scalable laboratory for social innovation. Conversely, the township's internal breakthroughs are intended to offer practical models back to the global community.

THE IDEA KITCHEN:

WHERE DO YOU GO WHEN YOU'RE NOT A CUSTOMER?

Lots of new fancy spaces are opening around us. But many of them aren't built for the locals who are a part of keeping this community alive, the people who live and work here.

Across Auroville and its surrounding villages, we see more and more beautiful, fancy spaces opening up. But do we also notice that many of these spaces are inaccessible to a lot of common folks?

We don't have an answer to making every space accessible to everyone.

But we do have the energy to build spaces that are.

Welcome to The Idea Kitchen.

Every week, we host a taco night with food, music, and games. Anyone can come, eat, and enjoy.

There is no fixed price. Instead, contributions are generosity-based.

If you are able to contribute, it helps us cover food, setup, and other basic costs. If you are able to contribute more, it helps keep the space accessible to those who cannot contribute.

Our intention is not to generate large profits, but to generate something much more valuable: community.

In a time when many spaces are becoming increasingly commercial, this is an experiment in accessibility, trust, and community.

If you believe spaces like this matter, we invite you to become a monthly supporter of this initiative.

Every donation, regardless of size, helps sustain this vision.

SOUGHT: WORK THAT SEEKS ME BACK

Work always found me in Auroville, rather than the other way around. In April, an office order found me instead, removing me from my responsibilities at MMC-Cinema Paradiso after twenty years. I have duly filled the HRS form to access a few months of bridging fund, and have been advised to find something soon, or else.

The Work: Work at MMC-CP was, by any reasonable measure, a two-in-one. Keeping a community venue functional, booked, technically sound, and financially prepared for the inevitable large repairs, while simultaneously curating films, which if done properly is a 24x7 occupation with little budget and no off switch. Add weekly announcements, finance tracking, budgeting, and reporting. To my knowledge, it is the only non-emergency service in Auroville that ran with just 2 official off days per year, zero expenditure on holidays or social expenses, and still delivered 360+ films and 900+ hours of programming per year. That is not nothing.

The Beginning: The Beginning: It really began with Marco, who envisioned it, and me. Anand came daily from the first screening in 2004 for over 1.5 years without any maintenance support. Laxmanan helped with handyman work and logistics in those early years. It ran on goodwill and some inexplicable magic. Over the years people joined, contributed, and collaborated, and the network of filmmakers that began in my university days expanded. My role grew as we learned, streamlined, and regularized, though my maintenance came from elsewhere. I was formally added to MMC for maintenance only around 2018. Luckily, Ramesh had already joined the team. Post-Covid, as we transitioned to a trust, the work expanded further. We managed, and more than that, we sailed.

What I Left Behind: When the office order arrived in April, MMC-CP had an adequate running budget, an expensive sound system replaced (Rs. 5 lakhs+) through an AVI-USA donation, a new projector (Rs. 5 lakhs) and laptop (Rs. 74K) purchased from funds we had set aside, Rs. 6 lakhs+ still in reserve for further equipment work that is always expensive, and a recurring donation stream generously pledged by the community that more than replaced the monthly budget we had lost. It was a community theatre. It was supported and held by the community.

What I Also Bring: Turning to the other side of the experience ledger, I am an ecologist and wildlifer by training, MS with Dr. Rauf Ali (you may remember him fondly), and PhD from the USA, with expertise in forest and natural habitat assessments. I also hold a PDC (permaculture), with training in organic horticulture and experience in community gardens. More relevantly, I have substantial experience in the development sector including development banks, that enables me to take up project and program evaluation, grant review, monitoring, management, and advisory roles.

What I Am Looking For: Full maintenance, ideally flexible hours, independence, and work that is needed and that needs me. Available from 1 August. The arrangements, however, need to start soon.

If something comes to mind, I am easy to find.

Warm regards,
Nina

Alexander Pushkin (1799-1837): the renowned Russian lyrical poet is the most outstanding representative of the Golden Age of Russian poetry and the creator of the modern Russian literary idiom. While he is mostly remembered for his lyric and romantic poems and long narrative pieces like “Eugene Onegin”, he also authored a number of prose works and plays, of which “The Little Tragedies” are a good example.

A man living in both an imaginary world and the real world often blends fantasy, ritual and love, drama, psychological thrillers, or delves into themes of alternate realities and escapism. A searing metaphysical exploration of collective guilt, systemic patriarchy, and the dark architecture of human worship.

It exposes a global truth: dominant societies often destroy the vulnerable, only to build grand monuments over their graves to cleanse their own hands.

POETRY

O Mother

Thy gaze follows me everywhere.

Thy Grace wraps me up in a cocoon of Love.

Shall I peck at the cocoon and emerge as a butterfly?

I know Thy heart will not be broken.

You will only break into tears of joy
for Thy child.

Anandi Z

A Chalice for Divinity

To say I am an empty jar
Waiting for the Force to fill
Is false, am I not full of self,
Desire, ego, anger, still?

A vessel in a holy place
Emptiness is an inner state
When spirit takes a solemn vow
Acknowledging that one must wait

To see his face in every face,
His voice upon the sacred air
His smile that breaks in child and man
His beauty dancing everywhere

And love that suffers all through love,
No thought of self when all is one,
All doubt allayed, all tears, all pain
Subsides, the hour of peace begun.

The far frontiers draw nearer now,
The crown of life's long mystery
To free the spirit and to be
A chalice for divinity.

Narad

What arrows would it be, O Arjuna

In your woes and sorrow,
O Arjuna,
What arrows must you release?
What cosmic vision
Do you hope to behold
To witness the immortality of wounds
And the immortality of the soul?

Dare you ask who is a friend
And who is a foe.
Who is the other
And who are you.
What is real
And what is a mere show?

Open your eyes and see
How the rivers of venom flow
What makes you blind
And what makes you glow.

Love is blind, you say.
All you see then
is the light in you and me.
Hatred too is blind, you must know.
All is darkness then and you see it grow.

O Arjuna
What is the virility of the fighter
And of the hero?
From what faintheartedness
Are you being invoked to arise
To become a scourge of the enemy?

How holy is this war?
How holy are your gods?
How hollow are your words
How clever are your thoughts?

What is holiness? Do you wonder?
Where in the screams of children
In the bloody, rotting bodies
In mutilated minds, in broken hands
Is this Kurukshetra
This Giza
This Holy Land?

What is eternal
What is fleeting
What is a mere illusion
And what is it that forever
Raises these questions
In every heart
On every turn?

O Arjun
Dare you ask?

YAY!

TIME TO SUMMERNATE AYURVEDA HEALTHY TIPS

According to Ayurveda, the qualities of summer are hot, sharp, and penetrating. That's why our pitta dosha - the subtle fire that controls metabolism and transformation - can cause us to overheat. The sun saps the energy from the body, from the plants and the earth, increasing heat and dryness.

Pitta needs to be looked after to maintain a good energy, mental clarity, joyfulness, good digestion and blood circulation, a beautiful glow on the skin and a sound sleep.

When Pitta is out of balance it will give skin problems, hot flashes, exhaustion, indigestion or loose stool. Emotionally, excess Pitta manifests through irritation, short-temper, impatience, judgement/criticism, perfectionism...

Before Pitta reaches uncontrollable heights, remain cool, calm and pamper the liver:

With the food: As Agni (digestive fire) weakens, it is better to eat light, unctuous (slightly oily), cooling food such as salads and juices.

- Favorable taste: Bitter taste, Sweet taste (to take moderately in case of diabetes and high triglycerides). Salty taste should be taken reasonably
- Drink water stored in earthen pot
- Raw food/salads are taken at lunch mainly
- Proteins: mungdal, chickpeas, beans, sprouts, nuts and seeds, non-veg: white meat, fish, seashell, dairies for breakfast or lunch, eggs
- Cereals for energy: jasmine rice, barley, red rice, millet (fermented ragi)
- Vegetables: pumpkin, bittergourd, bottlegourd, snakegourd, ashgourd, cucumber (taken separately), salads, green leafy vegetables, broccoli, cabbage, celery, carrots, drumstick (moringa), zucchini, plantain
- Fruits: amla, pomegranate, banana, ramphala, chiku, papaya, apple, grape, date, watermelon and melon (to be taken separately), coconut
